

Level 3

Interacting

33

Copy the sounds that I make with my voice, and encourage me to copy what you do

By copying, I can come to understand that I'm like you and you're like me

Music for the Brain

- Copy any sounds that I make with my voice
- Give me time to process what I've just heard
- Next, initiate an interaction by making a sound with your voice that is similar to one that you have heard me make in the past
- Give me plenty of time to respond
- You may hear me copy you more and more accurately over time
- Repeat the activity many times in a range of contexts: with different people and in different locations
