

Welcome to Amber Sound Touch

The Amber Trust's online resource for teaching music to blind children

How the website works

Enter the site by selecting the area of teaching that is most relevant to you by using the button below:

Teaching Roles

Amber Sound Touch has four sections covering different areas of teaching. Each of the teaching roles is split into two parts:

Children's stories

Here you will find films showing what visually impaired children can achieve and various teaching approaches in action. You will also find details of how to use the resources available elsewhere on The Amber Trust website.

Strategies

Here you will find useful suggestions on how to approach teaching visually impaired children in and through music, and how to tackle issues that may arise.

Webinar

Watch the introductory webinar with Professor Adam Ockelford here:
